> Dear M. Richardson,

> first let me begin by thanking you for your help. What people need to do > is open their facebook and go to search and make a search for "The > Phantoms Movie" The icon is what I have attached to this e-mail. Once on > the group they simply need the click on "Like" . Once they have clicked > on LIKE they go to the disscussion group and write "Terry".

> It's not very exciting and the old saying..."hurry up and wait" is the > word of the day. Once they are in a scene they must stay until the end > because of continuity. If three people are in the background for one > angle they must still be there when changing angles. That being said most > extra days are just one day or a half of a day. A few will be several > days.
